M-KOPA solar, an asset financing company based in Kenya, who have enabled tens of thousands of Kenyans to switch from high-cost kerosene to affordable, renewable solar power through technology, have organized a robot competition for computer science students on June 6th 2014. The competition requires one to have experience in programming.

The successful applicants will be awarded prizes as follows;

- First price Kshs 50000
- Second price Kshs 25000
- Third price Kshs 10000

Apart from the the cash prizes students will also get employment opportunities. If you are interested email robocomp@m-kopa.com , and copy hello@c4dlab.ac.ke
