Lessons worth Sharing

- Regardless of your position, always feel free to consult. This promotes team cohesion and makes junior team members feel valuable to the company.
- Patience is a virtue. Even if a client intentionally sabotages your engagements and is uncooperative, always maintain professionalism and escalate to relevant parties if problem persists.
- Soft skills e.g. communication skills, adaptability and conflict resolution determine your career growth. Technical skills will get you the job, but soft skills will impact your career growth in the workplace.
